LMU Professor Receives Harwell Award

The Civil War Round Table of Atlanta, Georgia has awarded its 22nd annual Richard B. Harwell Book Award to Dr. Earl J. Hess, Associate Professor of History, for his book, "In the Trenches at Petersburg: Field Fortifications and Confederate Defeat." The Atlanta Round Table has presented the Harwell Award annually since 1988 for the best book on a Civil War topic published in the preceding year.

The Harwell Award honors the late Richard B. Harwell, a nationally recognized librarian, bibliographer, historian and first president of the Atlanta Civil War Round Table. The Award consists of a cash prize of $2,500 plus an engraved plaque recognizing the event. Professor Hess is the 22nd Harwell Award winner.

Dr. Hess will speak at the November 2010 meeting of the Atlanta Civil War Round Table. At that time he will be presented the Harwell Award.

TVC National Technology Summit

Dr. Alan Biel, Dean for Research and STEM Initiatives, attended the Tennessee Valley Corridor (TVC) National Technology Summit, held in Washington D.C. on May 25th—May 27th.

The 2010 TVC National Technology Summit in Washington, D.C. was the 23rd in a series of regular economic development Summits the Corridor has organized to help strategically link the technology-rich Tennessee Valley Corridor – from North Alabama through East Tennessee into Southwest Virginia, Western North Carolina and Southern and Eastern Kentucky.

Foundation Corner

Contributed by
Martha Scheidler, Director of Foundations

Last week I attended the Council for the Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) conference for Corporate Foundation Relation Officers. Here are a few thoughts that I brought back:

- There is a growing emphasis on innovative research that is cross-discipline and impacts curriculum especially at the undergraduate level.
- LMU is fortunate to have great people in ORGSP who work with all grant writers and faculty to track, coordinate, communicate, educate and advance grant writing. Many universities struggle with this coordination between grants and sponsored programs.
- Foundations still value relationships, no matter how big they are. However, some are more transactional and place more emphasis on process and return on investment (ROI).
- Corporate relations are evolving into a comprehensive approach and holds great promise as a strategic cross-campus relationship between the university and businesses.
- There is a huge emphasis now on college accessibility and retention through “systemic” change, removing barriers at all levels of the university experience to help students successfully navigate through higher education institutions.

Congratulations to Dr. Jack McCann and the School of Business, and Dr. Cindy Skaruppa and the Office of Student Services for their work with the Smithfield-Luter Foundation. The Foundation’s Learners to Leaders Program now has its first in-coming LMU Freshman, complete with new lap-top and scholarship.

Thank you to the following people for their help with proposals:

Mr. Joshua Dodson: Google Grants

Dr. Toby Rogers: Lucille S. Thompson Foundation and The Sunrise Foundation

Dr. Jack McCann: Blackstone Charitable Foundation

Dr. Cindy Skaruppa: The Comcast Foundation, Lumina Foundation, Wal-Mart Foundation, and the Coca-Cola Foundation
