

Kelsey Braun, PhD

Assistant Professor of Psychology

Biography

Kelsey Braun, Ph.D. is an Assistant Professor of Psychology. Dr. Braun earned her bachelor's degree in psychology, with a minor in sociology, from University of Texas at San Antonio. She then completed her master's degree in general psychology, with a concentration in applied social issues, from University of Houston- Clear Lake. During her master's program, she engaged in research that examined intergroup and intragroup biases, ally behavior, prejudice reduction, and inclusive pedagogy. Subsequently, Dr. Braun completed her Ph.D. in Experimental Psychology at East Tennessee State University, where she focused on the impact of societal structures on mental health disparities between groups. She has extensive training in mixed-methods research, which utilizes both quantitative and qualitative methodology. When she is not teaching, Dr. Braun enjoys spending time in nature, exercising, writing, and meditating.

Teaching and Research Interests

Teaching Interests

Introduction to Psychology, Social Psychology, Health Psychology, Mixed-Methods Research

Research Interests

Intersectionality, In-group/Out-group biases, Mental health disparities, Campus climate

Publications and Presentations (last five years)

Publications

Case, K.A., Rios, D., Lucas, A., Braun, K., Enriquez, C. (2020). Intersectional patterns of prejudice confrontation by White, heterosexual, and cisgender allies. Journal of Social Issues, Applications of Intersectionality to Critical Social Issues, Special Issue.

Williams, S., Job, S. Todd, E. & Braun, K. (2020). A critical deconstructed quantitative analysis: Sexual and gender minority stress through an intersectional lens. Journal of Social Issues, Applications of Intersectionality to Critical Social Issues, Special Issue.

Presentations

Braun, K. (2021, March). Sexual Minority Stress through an Intersectional Lens. Presentation at Appalachian Research Forum, Johnson City, TN.

Williams, S. & Braun, K. (2021, March). Considering the Intersection of Sexual and Gender Identity in Health. Presentation for LGBTQI+Quillen+, affiliated with ETSU Health Professional Schools, Johnson City, TN.