

2021-2022 Professional Judgment Appeal Form

The federal formula that determines a student's financial aid eligibility is based on tax information from two-years prior. This is known in financial aid as the Base Year. For the 2021-2022 academic year, the base year is 2019. However, there are occasions when a family's financial situation changes during the school year from what it was during the Base Year. If changes have caused an unexpected or unplanned reduction in the family's finances, or are the result of circumstances beyond the family's control, the Office of Student Financial Services can, upon request, review documentation to determine if the Base Year is still an accurate reflection of the family's financial situation. Examples of changes that may warrant a professional judgement appeal include unemployment, loss of income, a change in marital status, or the death of a wage earner. Please attach any supporting documentation that may aid the Student Financial Services Office in making a decision. The student's name and student ID# should be included on all documents submitted to insure proper identification. If you need assistance in completing this form, please contact us.

Note: Sections I, II, III, and IV must be completed. Enter "NA" if not applicable, but do not leave any blanks.
